Nights of passion

Detroit social worker Andrea Chenault has always believed she can live with the fear that every firefighter's wife knows. But as her long-awaited wedding day approaches, she's tormented by secret doubts. Because it's becoming clear that deadly fires are targeting the man she loves beyond all reason.

Days of fear

Calvin Brown is the bravest, strongest man she's ever known, and he's taken her to heights of passion she never knew existed. But as the circle of flames draws ever closer, Andrea wonders if even her overwhelming love for this man is strong enough to survive the terrible thought of a life without him...

Dear Reader,

I would like to announce the arrival of the newest addition to my book family! (Let me take a moment here to apologize for the "oops" on the back cover. Andrea is still a nurse, just as she was in Love's Inferno, not a social worker.)

You'd think after five books, the thrill would be gone, but I still get so excited when one of my babies hit the shelves. Just for kicks, I usually drive around to all my local bookstores to see where they are positioned in the store.

Sometimes, I even move books around . . . shhh, don't tell anyone. ☺ Quite honestly, I hope this unique feeling of elation never goes away, even after twenty books!!

The Daring Devotion contest is now up on my website, so enter to win a $25.00 Barnes & Nobles Gift Card and a signed copy of Daring Devotion. Entry rules and regulations are listed on the site.

Next, I would like to say Happy Juneteenth!!! For anyone who doesn't know what it is, here is a brief description of this little known, but very important holiday, taken from Wikipedia: Though the Emancipation Proclamation had been announced on January 1, 1863, it had little immediate effect on most slaves' day-to-day lives, particularly in Texas, which was almost entirely under Confederate control. Juneteenth commemorates June 19, 1865, the day Union General, Gordon Granger, and 2,000 federal troops arrived on Galveston Island to take possession of the state and enforce slaves' new freedoms.

This June 19th, please take the time to honor our ancestors by celebrating Juneteenth with your family and friends.

I'm off to Dallas, TX next month to attend my very first RWA (Romance Writers of America) Conference. This is the largest romance writers and readers conference in the world, and I am very excited about attending. More information regarding the conference can be found at www.rwanational.org Hope to see some of you there! Well, that's all for now, again, thank you for your continued support, and I look forward to hearing what you think of Daring Devotion.

Take Care,
Elaine
